A New Role and Format for the Alumni News

Greetings from Champaign-Urbana and the new home of the Department of Urban and Regional Planning, Temple Hoyne Buell Hall. Along with moving into a new home, this issue also presents a new face to the Alumni News. Our goal is to present a livelier, more interactive and more informative bulletin. To do this we want to include more pictures of people and projects, provide more opportunities for interaction between alumni, and above all, to have a few feature articles in each issue by and about the alumni. Starting with the next issue we hope some articles will be sent in by you, sharing interesting projects you are working on or have recently completed.

In order for this new format to succeed we will probably have to publish at least once each year as opposed to the current policy of publishing every two years. However, we plan to keep the Geographic Distribution and Alumni Roster sections, which currently take up over half of the Alumni News, to every other year, allowing the interim volume to be smaller and feature only articles, news and interaction between alumni, faculty, staff and current students. We particularly want the Alumni News to become a vehicle for alumni interaction and communications.

In keeping with our new objectives, we would like to feature different graduate eras or regions of the nation and world where alumni currently live and practice. We would like to start with a feature on alumni from the 1960s for the next issue. If you graduated from either the Bachelors or Masters Program in the 1960s, we would like you to send us a current picture of yourself, and if you have one, a picture of how you looked at the time you graduated. Please send only pictures you can spare as we will want to keep them in our archives. In addition, send along a very brief description of what you're doing now (25 words or less). If you would like to write a small feature article of 500 words or less on an interesting or even award winning project you have recently completed, please drop the Department a line by letter, fax or e-mail with a brief description and if you can include pictures with the article.

Finally, we want to know what you think of this new format. Is it a good idea? Do you have other suggestions on how we can connect our alums and assist your networking for both social and professional purposes?

There will be a feature article on your reactions and ideas in the next issue. We hope you find this new approach both useful and enjoyable.

REMEMBER: Alumni from the 1960s, send us a "then" and "now" picture and a 25 word description for the next issue.

City Planning and Landscape Architecture Library

The City Planning and Landscape Architecture Library is still located in 203 Mumford Hall. It is still recognized as second only to Harvard in the breadth and depth of its collections. There are 20,000 volumes housed in Mumford Hall, largely recent publications, plus a core collection of classics and references materials. This is complemented by approximately 100,000 volumes of older material located in the Main Library bookstacks. The CPLA Library subscribes to over 200 journals and adds 800-900 new monographs annually. Special collections include theses, planning reports, newsletters, nursery catalogs, and newspaper clippings on local planning issues. Non-print materials (slide sets and videocassettes), selected by the librarian, are housed in the Undergraduate Library Media Center for use by faculty and students. Alumni often come back on work-related visits to use the library. Extensive lending through interlibrary loan networks testifies to the regional and national importance of this collection.

Department of Urban and Regional Planning has a New Home

In October 1995 Temple Hoyne Buell Hall was officially dedicated as the new home of the Department of Urban and Regional Planning, the Department of Landscape Architecture and the School of Architecture. All three unit offices are located in the new building along with all the faculty, most of the classrooms, studios and computer labs for Planning and Landscape. About one third of the Architecture faculty and classroom space are in the new building. We are located just south and slightly east of the old architecture building. The site of the building finishes off the western side of the southernmost quadrangle on campus. Taft Drive, now dead ends at the main entrance to the building, accentuating the pedestrian quadrangle that now runs from the Undergraduate library on the north, to the old Stock Pavilion to the south. The City Planning and Landscape Architecture Library still remains in Mumford Hall, but is now only a short walk across the Quad to the northeast. Much of the extensive research space of the Department will be housed in a former dormitory, Noble Hall, which is being refurbished for that purpose just a block and one half due west of the building on line with Taft Drive.

If the name of the building sounds familiar it is probably because it is the same as the Temple Buell exhibition space at the west end of the Architecture building. Temple Hoyne Buell was a 1916 graduate of Architecture who was a land developer in Denver, Colorado and noted as an early proponent of the commercial strip developments that successfully catered to the growing predominance of automobile based shopping. Through his foundation, Temple Hoyne Buell gave $6,000,000, or about half the cost of the 13 million dollar building. Another million was given by Lawrence J. Plym, another distinguished Architecture alumnus, to build the 200 seat auditorium that bears his name.

The building was designed by the Chicago firm of Perkins and Will, which has a solid reputation for designing successful buildings for academic institutions. As you can see from the photographs, the facade retains the red brick motif found throughout most of the campus, but abandons the Georgian style for a modern and open look with massive windows and skylights at the edges that join the three structural elements that constitute the building. The long straight eastern facade that closes off the quadrangle contains the three administrative offices on the first floor with meeting rooms below and Architecture studios above. The northern element parallels Taft Drive and contains the auditorium, and the Urban Planning and Landscape Architecture classrooms, studios and computer labs. The final element is the distinctive four story curved structure.

This building element is closest to the eastern element at the south where the atrium is only about the width of the linear skylight running the length of the building. As the curve extends to the northwest the atrium gets larger and steps lead down one story so that it is four stories high at the north end. The curved element contains all the faculty offices, connected by bridges over the atrium to the Architecture studios.

The building is quite sculptural, and beautifully bathed with natural light throughout the day. Proponents of the design have likened the central atrium to a "luxury cruise ship look." The building has already has some very positive press reviews, and will be reviewed in a feature article in the August 1996 issue of Architecture magazine. It may even be the cover photograph for that issue, so look for it.

While we have moved in, we have not yet fully adopted the building and made it our home. For a short time we had a coffee and pastry bar on the floor of the atrium which made the building more lively, but that proved not to be cost effective and lasted only two months. There is still work to be done on the unfinished spaces and noisy heat and air conditioning systems. The continuing students miss the intimacy and privacy of the four converted houses, main office and lab spaces on West Nevada. However, the new students and applicants who have visited the building are impressed with our modern lab facilities and feel the program now has a new competitive edge on other planning programs. We are also beginning to see the benefits from the closer contact with Landscape Architecture and Architecture students and faculty, and look forward to more joint courses and studio projects.

In keeping with our new format, we welcome your comments on the looks of the new building and what impact you think it will have on the future of the Planning program as well as Architecture and Landscape Architecture.

Check out our new Web site

Now you do not have to wait for the next issue of Alumni News to find out what is happening in your former academic home. Those of you who have access to the World Wide Web can point your Web browser to our Web site (<http://www.urban.uiuc.edu/>). This will lead you to a number of different sources of current information about the department including: the department brochure, on-line course information, faculty and staff profiles, and research projects. Our Web site is constantly developing, so please make sure you check with us frequently. Any suggestions for how the Web site might better serve your needs are welcome. You can provide feedback by calling, writing, or sending e-mail to varkki@uiuc.edu.

The Planning Advisory Council has existed for 12 years now. It assists the Department in reaching out to you alumni for professional expertise and financial support. The Council has initiated new efforts to collect technical documents for the City Planning Landscape Architecture Library, the Illinois Planning Symposium, new student achievement awards, and mentoring of graduate students in the recruiting process.

Members of the Council include:

Joseph Abel, (BSCP 1959)

Consultant, Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

Walter D'Alessio, (MSCP 1960)

President and Chief Executive Officer, Latimer and Buck. Real estate mortgage and investment firm, Philadelphia.

Thompson Dyke, (BSCP 1956)

Thompson Dyke and Associates.

Urban planning, land planning, zoning, open space planning, and landscape architecture, Northbrook, Illinois.

Ernest Freeman, (MUP 1973)

Director of Planning for the City of San Diego, California.

Vernon George, (BSCP 1961)

President of Hammer, Siler, George. Economic development consulting firm with offices nationwide, Silver Spring, Maryland.

William Lamont, Jr., (MSCP 1959)

Vice President of Murray, Lamont and Associates, Inc. Permitting strategies and remedial cleanup of hazardous waste sites firm, Denver, Colorado.

Dean Macris, (MSCP 1958)

Consultant, San Francisco, California.

Joy Mee, (MUP 1970)

Assistant Director of Planning, City of Phoenix, Phoenix, Arizona.

Leslie Pollock, (MUP 1968)

Principal Consultant, Camiros, Ltd. Planning consultants with offices in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Kenneth Sulzer, (MSCP 1962)

Executive Director of San Diego Association of Governments, San Diego, California.

Robert Teska, (MSCP 1961)

President of Robert B. Teska and Associates, Inc., planning consultants, Evanston, Illinois.

Placement Office

The Department continues to operate an employment placement office. Any alumnus who is job-hunting is welcome to use this service. You will be asked to fill out a placement worksheet and to provide a current resume. The Placement Coordinator will use these materials to gain insight into the kind of job which you are seeking. Off-campus students will be sent notices of all employment opportunities of interest.

We are anxious to receive any available information on planning employment opportunities in the planning field. Students, recent graduates, and alumni are always seeking positions - from internships to entry-level to advanced-level. Any information will be greatly appreciated. If you have any questions or comments concerning the Department Placement Office, please send them to the following address:

Proposal for a new Degree Program

Master in Public Administration

In 1988, the Department of Political Science decided, for internal reasons, it no longer wanted to house the Masters of Arts degree in Public Administration (MAPA) which had been a degree at Illinois since 1955. The termination of the degree was approved in 1993 at the campus level, but the University Board of Trustees felt the degree was important and chose not to act on it. In 1995, two campus-wide committees recommended reinstating the program and the campus rescinded its request to terminate the MAPA and started looking for a new home for it.

The Masters of Public Administration is a professionally accredited program that uses training techniques and professional skills that overlap with and complement the professional Masters degree in Urban Planning. In fact, a number of planning schools now include a MAPA degree program. Included among these are Rutgers, UCLA and our own sister campus in Chicago.

Our department was the only one to respond with a proposal to house the reinstated MAPA program. As proposed, the MAPA would be administered by the Department of Urban and Regional Planning and we would change our name. One option is the Department (or School) of Planning and Public Policy. The faculty is still considering the implications of a name change on the Urban Planning program. The MAPA student body and the MUP student body would both be about 25 students in size and both would have a two year matriculation. Following the model established by the existing PhD program in Regional Planning, the MAPA would be administered by the Department but governed by a MAPA faculty that includes persons with primary appointments in a variety of campus units. Day-to-day administration of the program would be the responsibility of the Department. A Program Coordinator would be the head of the Department or someone appointed by the Head. The proposed MAPA faculty would consist of the 14 existing faculty, the 4 new faculty and 9 others from around the University, 4 of whom would also be members of the extended PhD faculty.

The curriculum proposed for the new unit would streamline the existing MUP core courses and concentrations, and there would be a substantial common core and concentrations shared by the MUP and MAPA as shown below:

Our proposal calls for the new MAPA program to start admitting students for Fall 1997. At this point in the process, it is not clear that the campus, let alone the Board of Trustees, will approve the proposal. While both units want the program, the reality of its costs constitute a sizable, albeit a highly efficient and leveraged investment that may not be feasible within the University budget priorities. However, the new faculty and other expenses not outlined here are seen by the Department as the absolute minimum necessary. We are convinced this is a win-win proposal for the Department and the University that will bring the MAPA program the highest administrative efficiency at the lowest cost and rapid national stature and accreditation.

Approval of this new program will change our Department, but we feel it is largely for the better. The two degrees are clearly linked and mutually reinforcing. Many of you over the years wanted to take a joint planning/public administration degree or might have followed your Urban Planning degree with an MAPA equivalent. Many other alumni have found they ended up with a job description that included many city management and public administration elements and could have benefited from the type of new courses the MAPA will introduce.

What do you think? Is this a good move for the Department or a bad move? Why do you feel that way? What do think will be the implications? How is the Department likely to change? What do you think of the name change? What would you propose? We have tried to structure the new Department (School) so that the majority of faculty continue to see Urban and Regional Planning as the roots of our mission as educators and researchers. Do you agree? What warning signs, if any, should we be on the lookout for if the new program gets approved and we start granting both degrees? Write us.

East St. Louis Action Research Project is in Full Swing

Since 1990, the East St. Louis Action Research Project has worked to find solutions to pressing social, economic, and environmental problems in one of the nation's poorest cities. Faculty and students from the Department of Urban and Regional Planning, the Department of Landscape Architecture, and the School of Architecture collaborate with the Department of Agriculture's Cooperative Extension Service and East St. Louis neighborhood organizations on a broad range of community planning, organizing, research, and design activities. In 1995-96, ESLARP dramatically expanded its activities with the support of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Community Outreach Partnership Center Program. More than 500 students worked with residents from seven distressed East St. Louis neighborhoods to complete more than two dozen community planning and design projects identified by local residents. Some of the year's accomplishments included:

Creating a City-Wide Coalition

The East St. Louis Community Action Network was created to help neighborhood leaders collectively address important community issues through direct action campaigns. During 1995-96, ESL CAN chose its first issue, code enforcement, and worked with ESLARP to survey more than 10,000 building lots to determine compliance with the East St. Louis Municipal Sanitation Code. With funding from the Environmental Protection Agency, our Department was able to hire Ms. Carolyn Fuller of St. Louis, Missouri to lead the coalition's campaign to reduce the number of code violations in East St. Louis.

Expanding the Use of Technology

The ESLARP web site (<http://imlab9.landarch.uiuc.edu/~eslarp/>) was upgraded and expanded to allow greater availability of project-generated research and training materials as well as internal and external discussion forums.

Urban Planning students worked with neighborhood residents to plan an open house at the Dunham Dynamic Museum in East St. Louis, IL

Visitors to this web page can access the East St. Louis Geographic Information Retrieval System, a demonstration model of the type of census, physical condition, and natural landscape information available in the ESLARP Geographic Information System (GIS) database.

Replicating the ESLARP Model

ESLARP replicated its participatory action research model of community planning in two Champaign, Illinois neighborhoods this Spring: Douglass Park and Garden Hills. Urban planning students enrolled in Professor Ken Reardon's community development workshop worked with residents of these two neighborhoods to collect data, determine strengths and weaknesses and develop action plans. The planning effort was funded by the city of Champaign.

Assisting the Dunham Centers

Ms. Katherine Dunham, a world-renowned African American choreographer and dancer, went to East St. Louis in the late 1960s to provide arts and humanities training to the children of East St. Louis. In recent years, the Dunham Centers for Arts and Humanities have experienced financial difficulties, jeopardizing the future of the centers. In late 1995, ESLARP formed an Emergency Assistance Committee to lend technical support. An emergency solicitation letter was sent to nearly 1,200 former donors, a strategic stabilization plan was created, and a series of public events were held to raise awareness of the plight of the centers.

Establishing a Neighborhood Technical Assistance Center

Plans are underway for an East St. Louis Technical Assistance Center, which will provide community development, not-for-profit management assistance, and architectural assistance to neighborhood groups and community-based organizations. This center, which is scheduled to open in Fall of 1996, was made possible by funding from the East St. Louis Community Development Block Grant Office and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Current Faculty

Kieran P. Donaghy, Associate Professor of Urban and Regional Planning; Ph.D., Cornell University, 1987.

The thread connecting Dr. Donaghy's diverse areas of research, teaching, and practice is an interest in developing dynamic models that will help communities, states, and countries to understand how complex social and natural systems are interrelated and how different courses of action may alter evolving patterns for better or worse. His applied research has been focused on transportation planning, state and local development, macroeconomic policy, arms race and military spending issues, and the coordination of international economic policies. One of the few continuous-time applied econometricians working in this country, he has taught courses in economic development, planning theory, and formal modeling for planning and public policy analysis. Before coming to the University of Illinois, Dr. Donaghy taught at Cornell University and the University of Delaware. He has served as a consultant to the World Bank and various international, state, and local agencies. A closet social theorist, he can be heard around the department singing little known verses of obscure old songs.

Clyde W. Forrest, Professor and Associate Head, Department of Urban and Regional Planning; JD, University of Tulsa, 1962.

With the University since 1967, Professor Forrest is both an attorney and planner. He has been in private practice and served as Assistant Director of the Office of Urban and Community Planning, University of Oklahoma. From 1959 to 1962 he was the legal coordinator for the Tulsa Metropolitan Area Planning Commission. Recognized as an expert on state and local land use, zoning, and subdivision law, he has written model legislation for the State of Illinois; consulted with federal, state, and local governments; and led public service and continuing education programs in planning and environmental law. He teaches law and planning implementation, environmental law, local government law and planning negotiation. Research includes studies of groundwater, federal environmental regulation, and land-use controls in relation to the taking issue. He is Professional Development Officer of the Illinois Chapter of the American Planning Association. Professor Forrest served as Director of the Illinois General Assembly's Land Resources Study Commission. He is Coordinator of the Master of Urban Planning program and Associate Head of the Department.

The belief that vital, vibrant urban places contribute significantly to quality of life in cities is central to Dr. George's work. He draws on his undergraduate education in architecture, his experience as a professional architect, and his graduate studies in planning to explore how such spaces can be designed in today's world. This exploration has taken him in two directions: one having to do with what urban design does, the other with how we design and plan, especially using computers. He teaches courses in urban design, and in developing and communicating planning ideas and arguments, both graphically and verbally. His current research projects involve applying hypermedia technology to planning and urban design, and customizing commercial software for use by planners. Recent projects include developing a tool for making arguments about urban spaces, a tool for exploring alternative scenarios in urban restructuring, and using technology to aid planning education.

Leonard F. Heumann, Professor of Urban and Regional Planning and Professor of Psychology; Ph.D., University of Pennsylvania, 1973.

Dr. Heumann is one of our country's most active applied researchers in housing policy as it affects minority and elderly persons. He has completed studies of how stable interracial neighborhoods evolve, how to develop better housing for low-income and functionally disabled seniors, and how to improve the analytical tools used by local planners to uncover and correct low-income housing problems. The scope of his research ranges from domestic to comparative international policy analysis. In recent trips abroad, he has studied advanced housing programs for elderly persons in Great Britain, Germany, The Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, Israel, and Australia for their applicability in the United States. Dr. Heumann teaches courses in housing, social planning, planning practice, and planning theory. He is also the coordinator of the Ph.D. program. He has written several papers on planning education, and his workshop courses have won national APA awards. His most recent book, "Aging In Place With Dignity," has just been translated into Spanish.

Lewis D. Hopkins, Department Head and Professor of Urban and Regional Planning, Landscape Architecture, and in the Institute for Environmental Studies; Ph.D., University of Pennsylvania, 1975.

Two questions frame Dr. Hopkins' interests: "How can we create better plans?" and "When are plans worthwhile and why?" He is curious about issues that arise in both: avoiding locally optimal traps that prevent better outcomes, eliciting and aggregating preferences, and deciding when to stop looking for better options. His research focuses on computer systems to aid planning for land use, environment, and infrastructure. Through funding by the Department of Defense and the National Science Foundation, he and collaborators have developed planning support systems that aid in generating options and provide procedural expertise for particular planning techniques. Research on the benefits of plans in dynamic systems, in collaboration with Professor Gerrit Knaap, is assessing the effects of infrastructure and land development plans in metropolitan Portland. Dr. Hopkins teaches planning theory, comprehensive planning workshops, and GIS.

Tschangho John Kim, Professor of Urban and Regional Planning; Ph.D., Princeton University, 1976.

Dr. Kim began his education in his native South Korea in architectural engineering and completed graduate study in planning at Princeton University. He has worked in Austria, Germany, South Korea, Indonesia, Sweden, Kenya, the People's Republic of China, and the United States. In 1979-80 he served as the project director of the National Comprehensive Transportation Study of Korea, sponsored by the World Bank. He also directed the Optimal Transport Sector Development Project in Indonesia in 1990-1991. He was recently appointed as Chair, National GIS Advisory Committee by the government of Korea. Dr. Kim teaches courses in transportation analysis and the application of the social sciences in planning. Recent research is on GIS for transportation planning. Dr. Kim has authored or edited five books on Urban Systems Analysis, Regional Systems Analysis, Expert Systems Applications to Urban Planning, Expert Systems in Environmental Planning, and Spatial Planning in Indonesia. Currently he is co-editing a book with Lyna Wiggins entitled, "GIS-T: GIS for Transportation Planning and Analysis."

Gerrit J. Knaap, Associate Professor of Urban and Regional Planning; Ph.D., University of Oregon, 1982.

Gerrit Knaap is an Associate Professor in the Department of Urban and Regional Planning at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Professor Knaap received his Bachelors degree from Willamette University, his Masters and Doctorate Degrees from the University of Oregon, and post-doctoral training from the University of Wisconsin-Madison—all in economics. He is the author of several journal articles on land use and environmental policy and the coauthor of three books: The Regulated Landscape: Lessons on State Land Use Planning from Oregon, Spatial Developments in Indonesia, and Environmental Program Evaluation: a Primer. Dr. Knaap directs the Planning Information Program at the University of Illinois and is an affiliate of the Lincoln Institute of Land Policy in Cambridge Massachusetts.

Zorica Nedovic-Budic, Assistant Professor of Urban and Regional Planning; Ph.D., University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, 1993.

What is the impact of GIS technology on the planning process and how does an agency achieve the most effective use of the technology are the questions that drive Dr. Nedovic-Budic's research. Teaching students how to use this important new tool emphasizes the need for critical awareness about both the planners' needs and the technological capabilities in order to avoid a wide-spread "hammer looking for a nail" syndrome. Extending her study of human, organizational, and management-related determinants of GIS implementation success, Dr. Nedovic-Budic's current research focuses on evaluation of benefits from introducing GIS technology in planning agencies. A physical planner by training, with an international background and love for cities, Dr. Nedovic-Budic is also interested in processes, factors, and tools that determine the quality of urban environments. She teaches a graduate course on urban structure and functions with a comparative view on institutional and cultural frameworks, resulting land development patterns, and planning practice in the U.S. and in the Central/Southern Europe.

Robert Olshansky, Assistant Professor of Urban and Regional Planning; Ph.D., University of California-Berkeley, 1987.

Dr. Olshansky's research, practice, and teaching focus on environmental and land use policy, seeking to understand how state and federal policies can be better translated into effective local actions. One of his major research goals is to develop better planning strategies to reduce the effects of earthquakes, landslides, and floods. Dr. Olshansky has studied earthquake preparedness in the Central U.S. and published a series of manuals promoting state actions to reduce earthquake hazards. He is currently studying the land use effects of the recent earthquakes in Los Angeles and Kobe, Japan. His natural hazard studies also include local hillside development policies and the use of seismic zonation in land use planning. With Professor Forrest, he prepared a groundwater protection manual for local governments in Illinois. In the area of land use policy, Dr. Olshansky recently completed a comprehensive study of the local implementation of the California Environmental Quality Act.

Kenneth M. Reardon, Assistant Professor of Urban and Regional Planning; Ph.D., Cornell University, 1990.

Dr. Reardon's research, teaching and extension activities focus on the contribution city planning can make to resolving problems confronting low-income, urban communities. For the past fifteen years, he has worked with a variety of community-based planning initiatives focused on the employment, housing, public safety, health care, and social service needs of older residential neighborhoods in the New York Metropolitan Area. His most recent research examines the status of African-American communities in Illinois. Dr. Reardon serves as the Program Coordinator for the Department's East St. Louis Action Research Project and teaches the introductory undergraduate planning course as well as a community development seminar and a neighborhood planning workshop. Prior to joining the department, Dr. Reardon was the director of the New York City Field Study Program of the New York State College of Human Ecology at Cornell University, where he taught courses and conducted research on contemporary urban problems.

Daniel W. Schneider, Assistant Professor of Urban and Regional Planning; Ph.D., University of Wisconsin-Madison, 1990.

Dr. Schneider is an ecologist whose research focuses on the effects of disturbances on aquatic ecosystems. By applying knowledge of how natural perturbations affect ecosystems he seeks to predict the effects of human disturbances. His research extends from work on the zebra mussel and its effects on the Great Lakes and Mississippi River ecosystems, to the effects of changes in flood regime on riverine wetlands, to historic effects of settlement and changing land use on the ecology of the Chesapeake Bay region. Dr. Schneider has also worked on aquatic ecology and water resources issues in Costa Rica, Nicaragua, and Mexico. His teaching covers ecological applications to planning, watershed planning, and the historical ecology of human settlement. He also has an appointment in the Center for Aquatic Ecology at the Illinois Natural History Survey.

Eliza Steelwater, Assistant Professor of Urban and Regional Planning; Ph.D., Louisiana State University, 1990.

Dr. Steelwater, whose Ph.D. is in geography, pursues an interest in the workings of community and society that has led her into diverse fields: historic preservation, multi-ethnic community studies, and social theory. Before joining the faculty, she consulted in historic preservation in Tucson, Arizona. Work developed extending her dissertation will be published in by the Johns Hopkins University Press. She received a Beckman Award for the study of African-American participation in the planning process. She has completed a grant-funded study of community and minority participation in solid waste planning. She has developed a seminar on postmodernism in planning and geography, and also teaches courses and workshops in historic preservation and qualitative research methods. She is working on a monograph on home ownership among the minority-group poor.

Bruce A. Williams, Associate Professor of Urban and Regional Planning and the Institute of Communications Research; Ph.D., University of Minnesota, 1980.

Dr. Williams, who also holds an appointment in the Institute of Communications Research, is broadly interested in how democracy and citizenship are affected by the increasingly sophisticated issues of science and technology with which political systems must deal. In pursuing these concerns, his research and teaching focus on environmental policy making and the role of the mass media in shaping political discourse. He is just completing a long-term research project that examines the dynamics of environmental disputes and the competing languages used by citizens, policy-makers, experts and interest groups as they struggle over public policy. This project also analyzes the ways in which issues of race and gender affect the ability of various groups to influence environmental policy. The book that resulted from this project, Democracy, Dialogue, and Environmental Disputes: The Contested Languages of Social Regulation, was published by Yale University Press in 1995. Dr. Williams is also working on a new project that examines the ways in which the mass media, especially television, influences how ordinary citizens talk about a variety of political issues--environmental protection, crime, and race.

Faculty with Majority Time in Other Departments

Jan Brueckner, Professor of Economics and in Regional Planning PhD Program; PhD, Stanford University, 1976.

Rabel J. Burdge, Professor in the Institute for Environmental Studies, of Agricultural Economics (Rural Sociology), Leisure Studies, and in Regional Planning PhD Program; and Professor in School of Australian Environmental Scenery, Griffith University, Australia; PhD, Pennsylvania State University, 1965.

Harvey Choldin, Professor of Sociology, and in Regional Planning PhD Program; PhD, University of Chicago, 1965.

Robert A. Herendeen, Associate Professional Scientist, Illinois Natural History Survey. Associate Professor, Department of Urban and Regional Planning; Associate Professor, Department of Ecology, Ethology, and Evolution; Adjunct Professor, National Center for Supercomputing Applications, University of Illinois; PhD, Cornell University, 1970.

Geoffrey J.D. Hewings, Professor of Geography and of Urban and Regional Planning, Director of the Regional Economics Applications Laboratory; PhD, University of Washington (Seattle), 1969.

Douglas Johnston, Associate Professor of Landscape Architecture Affiliate in Urban and Regional Planning; PhD, University of Washington, 1986.

David Kovacic, Assistant Professor of Landscape Architecture and in Regional Planning PhD Program; PhD, Colorado State University, 1983.

Jon C. Liebman, Professor of Environmental Engineering and in Regional Planning PhD Program; PhD, Cornell University, 1965.

Robert Riley, Professor of Landscape Architecture, of Architecture, and in Regional Planning PhD Program; B. Arch, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1954.

Joanne Vining, Associate Professor in the Institute for Environmental Studies, of Psychology, Landscape Architecture, and in Regional Planning PhD Program; PhD University of Arizona, 1983.

Emeritus Faculty

Lachlan F. Blair, Professor Emeritus of Urban and Regional Planning

Eric C. Freund, Professor Emeritus of Urban and Regional Planning

Albert Z. Guttenberg, Professor Emeritus of Urban and Regional Planning

Louis B. Wetmore, Professor Emeritus of Urban and Regional Planning

Adjunct Faculty

R. Ilker Adiguizel, Adjunct Lecturer. Civil Engineering, United States Army Construction Engineering Research Laboratory, Champaign, Illinois.

Myles D. Berman, Adjunct Associate Professor. Attorney, Altheimer and Gray, Chicago, Illinois

John J. Fittipaldi, Adjunct Lecturer. Community Planner, United States Army Construction Engineering Research Laboratory, Champaign, Illinois.

Barry Hogue, Adjunct Lecturer. Associate, Development Strategies, Inc., St. Louis, Missouri.

Karen Kummer, Adjunct Lecturer. Executive Director, Preservation and Conservation Association, Champaign, Illinois

Patricia Miller, Adjunct Lecturer. Executive Director, Illinois Heritage Association, Champaign, Illinois

William L. Volk, Adjunct Lecturer. Managing Director, Champaign-Urbana Mass Transit District, Champaign, Illinois

Bruce K. Walden, Adjunct Lecturer. Administrator, Department of Community Development Services, City of Urbana, Illinois

Ronald C. Webster, Adjunct Lecturer. Team Leader, US Army Construction Engineering Research Lab, Champaign, Illinois.

Faculty News

Varkki George

The move to Buell Hall consumed much of my time this past year. I have had a great time working on the layout of our instructional spaces as well as planning our computing resources. If you visit us, you will find that we have dramatically improved the quality of and access to computing. We are still, however, struggling with getting everything in place and functioning smoothly.

My other big preoccupation has been using technology as a teaching tool in my courses. All my course material is now delivered via the World Wide Web, and my courses use conferencing software to promote learning outside the classroom. I am very enthusiastic about these developments, and I look forward to Spring 1997 when the urban design course will be taught on two campuses (Urbana-Champaign and Chicago) simultaneously. I will be doing this with our alum, Kheir Al-Kodmany, who now teaches at UIC.

I will be spending Fall 1996 teaching in India. I will visit the Department of Architecture at Manipal Institute of Technology and teach an advanced design studio and course on architectural research. I look forward to spending time with my family in India, and getting to know more about urban planning in India.

Len Heumann

It is always fun reading what I said two years ago and seeing how things have changed. I spoke about becoming a grandfather two years ago, and let me tell you it is more and more fun. Sydney is now 2 1/2 and a total blast. So is watching my ambitious, happy and productive clan of married children and their spouses made up of three architects and a transportation engineer. Micah, my youngest is still at home and starts driving this year.

That book I told you about last time, Aging in Place with Dignity, has been translated into Spanish.

That sabbatical I was planning last time I wrote came to fruition. My wife, Roberta, and son, Micah, spent last summer with me in Australia (winter down under). I stayed on into the fall. I had a Melbourne Fellowship and a grant from the Australian Retirement Village Association. I studied both the Australian retirement village industry and the home and community based care system in Melbourne. We visited Sydney, Adelaide, and Perth, but Melbourne was home base for most of the time. We spent some nice side trips in the Victorian out-back with the gum trees, kangaroos, koalas, wombats, kookaburras and the other native flora and fauna.

I have gotten deeply involved in a nonprofit housing development corporation called Homestead Corporation. We are currently building our first housing project for 25 apartments with case management and support services for single homeless persons. It has been a very complex operation dealing with five different funding sources, numerous community based social service agencies and the NIMBYISM that understandably accompanies locating such a housing facility. I am convinced from this experience that community development corporations are a positive evolution. The better community corporations have the capacity to bring empowerment, dignity, caring, and flexibility that often eludes most centralized governments.

Lew Hopkins

The passage of time is still marked dramatically by my kids. Josh has graduated from the University of Illinois in Astronautical Engineering and is about to leave for a job with Lockheed Martin in Denver. Despite our fears that the aerospace industry was collapsing and that he should switch to an English major and become a writer, he actually had a choice of jobs and grad schools.

We will be focusing more of our mountain time on Colorado in the future. Nathaniel is at Grinnell running cross country, studying French existential philosophy, and majoring in psychology. We still manage to catch a couple of cross country meets each fall. Susan and I are learning how to be empty nesters and thinking about the next round of remodeling and repairs as soon as the college bills are paid. We are also psyching up for some long distance travel, so beware, we might come looking for you.

T. John Kim

We are all fine. Youngmoo is now a graduate student in the Department of Electrical Engineering, Stanford University and Tony is a senior at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. Moonja continues to work at the Construction Engineering Research Laboratories. I became more involved in international planning circles. I finished the three-year long project, Trade and Transport in Java, Indonesia, that was funded by the World Bank to the University of Indonesia. Last year, I was appointed as an adviser to the President of Arriyadh Development Authority, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, and I now visit Riyadh a few times a year. Past years, I served as a Senior Fulbright scholar to Korea.

My colleagues and I have edited a sequel to the first book, Expert Systems: Applications To Urban Planning that was published in 1990 by Springer-Verlag. The second book is titled, Expert Systems in Environmental Planning, 1993, Springer-Verlag. I have another edited book published in 1993 by Avebury Publishers titled, Spatial Development in Indonesia: Review and Prospects. Hope to see you soon.

Zorica Nedovic-Budic

It is nice to be back in Champaign-Urbana where I started my US adventure in 1987 by enrolling in the masters program at DURP. From 1989 when I became UIUC alumna until my appointment as an assistant professor in January 1995 I undertook doctoral studies at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and worked at Virginia Tech for two years. Even though I expected to fit right back quickly, my re-settlement turned out a very different life in many respects. Now with a larger family including a 6-year-old son Stefan, on the faculty side of the world, with much less control over my time than as a student, being a home owner with a residence in Champaign (unbelievable!), somewhat different areas of interest and basis for community building, and almost ten years older! So, I realized that it will take some time until me and my family become part of Ch-U again and decided to be patient. Luckily I have been able to travel back home to Belgrade for past two summers - which was quite fulfilling.

Workwise - it's great. I teach in two subject areas that interest me the most: one on geographic information systems (GIS), another on cities (Al Guttenberg's Urban Structure and Functions). Perfect combination. Research and publishing is going well too. I am currently involved in developing a prototype local node (Champaign County) on a National Spatial Data Infrastructure (NSDI). I am also studying the adjustment of planning practice to the new Eastern/Central European context. And a couple of exciting projects are on the horizon. Last year I received a fellowship from the National Center for Geographic Information and Analysis (NCGIA) to participate in the International Young Scholars Summer Institute on Geographic Information. It was an excellent experience. My GIS research is on organizational and human issues in GIS implementation, so if you have any great story from your agency - contact me - I would like to hear it.

Rob Olshansky

Over the past two years my earthquake work has accelerated, for obvious reasons. I have been commuting to California every two to three months, and visited Kobe last summer. I even went to an earthquake conference in Nice, France. It is actually pretty interesting stuff -- I am examining the issue of land use planning for earthquake safety, and have enough funding to be able to do a comprehensive and satisfying job of it. I finally published my stuff on the California Environmental Quality Act (some of you will see it in JAPA this summer). And I am publishing my work on hillside ordinances (which a couple of you alums worked on). I am teaching the same courses as usual, and, if the tenure God smiles down on me, I will continue to do so. Some of you remember when Jacob was born. He will soon be six, which indicates how long I have been here. His big brother, who used to scrawl on the board in the computer lab, has now moved up to Simcity.

I like my new office in Buell Hall. I had a lot of anxiety about the move, because I have accumulated so much stuff over the past six years. But it all fits, and I have a nice view of the weather.

Farewell to a Planning Legend

William I. Goodman

June 24, 1919 - December 23, 1995

We sadly announce the passing of Bill Goodman, Professor Emeritus of the Department who taught courses in transportation, land use and professional practice and who stressed the principles of the highest professional ethics and social justice from 1956 to 1988. Those of you who got degrees during the turbulent years of 1965-1971 will remember him as the department's chairman.

Bill Goodman's lengthy career as a planning educator had numerous highlights and recognitions of his distinguished service to the planning profession. The book Bill edited with Eric Freund, Principles and Practices of Urban Planning, became a standard text book and reference book for professional practice from the late 1960s to recent years. We remember students in the early 1970s referring to it with both reverence and humor as the "Green Bible." He was a Fulbright scholar in England in 1962, and received a merit award from the American Institute of Planners in 1969. He served as president of the American Collegiate Schools of Planning in 1970-1971. In 1971 he also took a leave of absence from the University to serve as director of the Office of Urban Transportation Systems in the U.S. Department of Transportation in Washington, D.C.

Professor Goodman's degrees at the graduate level were a Masters in Public Administration from Wayne State University and a Masters in City Planning from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge. He learned many lessons about planning development and implementation from his work for the Detroit Plan Commission before he began teaching. He taught city planning at Harvard from 1953-1956 before coming to Illinois.

After his retirement, Bill continued to remain active as a consultant to the Department of Transportation, to the Costa Rican and Iranian Governments and numerous state governments in the U.S. He also returned to his roots of Central European Yiddish culture and was active in the preservation of Yiddish literature, poetry and culture.

As a personality we remember him for his rapier sharp and often sarcastic and biting wit. We also remember him as a very private man, not prone to socialize with faculty or students, but nevertheless a caring and compassionate teacher.

The Department helped plan and present a memorial service for Bill which was held at the Hillel Foundation on campus on Sunday, January 28, 1996. William Goodman gave mightily to his beloved profession of Urban and Regional Planning and will be sorely missed.

We welcome your recollections of Bill Goodman as teacher and mentor during his 32 years as a professor at Illinois. We will publish these alumni recollections and eulogies in a future issue of Alumni News. If you would like to send condolences to Bill's wife Pearl, her address is: Pearl Goodman, 310 W. Michigan Ave., Urbana, IL 61801.

Memorial contributions can be made to the William I. Goodman Memorial Fund at the National Yiddish Book Center, 48 Woodbridge St., South Hadley, Mass. 01075.

We said Goodbye to Two Long-time Friends in 1995

In September 1995, The Department moved from its four houses and one office building on Nevada Street. Pictured above are some of the faculty, staff, and students that packed up and moved to the new Temple Buell Hall.

Also in September of 1995, Gracye Baker retired. Gracye was the Administrative Secretary in the Department for 10 years and worked at the U of I for 35 years. She always managed to either have the answer or find it - one way or another. We've done a lot of moving in recent years as faculty and staff have changed not only offices but 'houses' along Nevada Street. Gracye always seemed at her best in facilitating these many moves. It's not surprising Gracye's last official act for the Department was coordinating the move from Nevada Street to Temple Buell Hall. We're not sure why she chose that as her last challenge, but we're really glad she did! Gracye never moved herself into Buell Hall but stayed on Nevada Street after we were gone to make sure everything was as it should be. Gracye brought life and color to our world. We hope she brought a little sunshine into your lives as well.

The Department honored Gracye with an informal (and supposedly surprise) luncheon. The University presented her with a watch and a certificate of appreciation. She said, "When you have worked here as long as I have, they really DO give you a gold watch." We wish Gracye well in her retirement!

Since retiring, Gracye has been quite busy with her grandchildren and extended family. She's almost been too busy to pursue another of her favorite pastimes, gardening. Well, Gracye, there's always next year!

Support Staff News

Vicki Eddings, Secretary

Most of you probably don't know me since I've only been here a little more than two years. (By the time I finish producing this Alumni News it may be a little more than three years!)

I've been here long enough to know it's hard to see the students graduate and leave just when I get to know them.

I'm married and have two children, both boys, ages ten and twelve who constantly keep me amused.

Glenda Fisher, Secretary

A couple of things happened last year that affected the Department. Gracye Baker retired and they divided up her duties among the rest of the staff. I became Lew Hopkins' secretary. I'm sure that I'll never know as much as Gracye did but I'm learning every day. Also, Urban Planning moved into the new Temple Hoyne Buell Building with Architecture and Landscape Architecture. After surviving the move last fall, settling in hasn't been that bad at all. It's handy being close to the other departments and meeting face to face instead of over the phone.

My husband and I still enjoy camping, golfing and a new form of entertainment is going to the River Boat (a couple times a year.) We have a two-year-old granddaughter named Emily. Our youngest son, Steve is getting married this August and we are in the process of making wedding plans.

Kay McBroom, Assistant to the Head

I have been at the Department almost 11 years now and have seen many changes occur, none as dramatic as this past year. The physical move to Buell Hall was stressful for the support staff as we got the "pleasure" of cleaning out old buildings, discarding broken-down equipment and throwing away papers many of which were prior to the computer age. We did find some interesting historical papers. We even found some fractured Christmas carols that used to be sung at Urban Planning holiday parties!

We have adjusted to Buell very well and are gradually giving up our buildings on Nevada Street as they're too far away from the rest of the department activities at Buell. This is an interesting building and many groups have been touring it. Our atrium has been in demand as a gathering place for special events. When someone sings or plays an instrument in the atrium the sound travels all over the building. There has even been a dance presentation in the atrium.

My daughter Jenny is still very active in music, theater, and anything else she can think of that will cause Mom and Dad to run her around town. She was one of the first to try out the acoustics in Buell with her singing.

Roger is still very busy with his job at Northrup King. He proved to be a good all-purpose parent when I left him at home and took a two week "holiday" in Europe. I just got back from London and Paris and will bore anyone who crosses my path with my lovely pictures. So if you come to visit the Department, you have been warned!

Kathy Sarnecki, Chief Clerk

I didn't know if I wanted to take the time to write this year—that's my big problem, TIME, or I should say lack of.

It just keeps getting busier and busier around here. Two big events at DURP this past year were Gracye retiring and THE MOVE. We do miss Gracye, but still keep in contact with luncheons, Cookie Day, holiday party—you know, the important stuff.

I moved into the new Temple Buell building about a month before the rest of the office personnel so I could check in equipment & furniture. The problems are still ongoing and, one day when most of the Buell move is complete (I am counting on there being such a time), we shall CELEBRATE. Inventory is the other thorn in my side, and about the time this one is finally completed, the next biennial one will be due!!

Home life is almost as hectic, but much more pleasant. Our two-year-old granddaughter continues to capture our hearts and amaze us with all she has learned in such a short time. My, if we continued to learn at the rate we do in the first couple years of our lives, we would ALL be geniuses!

Jane Terry, Admissions & Records Officer

The most enjoyable part of my job continues to be the students, and there's always a challenge, too. Drop me a note or give me a call - I'd love to hear from you.

We Welcome our new Development Coordinator

The Department of Urban and Regional Planning is pleased to now have someone working with us on our development efforts. Leanne Courson is a part of the College of Fine and Applied Arts Development Office and, as of December 1, 1995, focuses her efforts on Urban and Regional Planning, Landscape Architecture, and Architecture. She looks forward to meeting each of you. Her office is also in Temple Hoyne Buell Hall, her telephone number is 217/244-2586, and her e-mail is lcourson@uiuc.edu. Within the Department, she is working with Lew Hopkins to establish new endowments as well as with the Planning Advisory Council to increase existing endowments:

Lachlan F. and Mary A. Blair Endowment

Through their generous gift, Professor Emeritus Lachlan Blair and his wife Mary created an endowment fund which has continued to grow through alumni gifts. The income from the endowment is designated for the enrichment and support of studies and instructional activities contributing to the understanding and appreciation of heritage values in the built and natural environments, and the means of their preservation.

The Mike Carroll Memorial Fund

Established by his family, friends, and fellow classmates, this fund provides an award to a graduate student who demonstrates a strong commitment to community development planning from a neighborhood and government perspective. Mr. Carroll (MUP '68) was the Vice President of Community Development for the Lilly Foundation in Indianapolis and served as director of both the Metropolitan Development Commission and the Indianapolis Model Cities Program. He served on the senatorial staffs of Senators Lugar and Quayle and was once a candidate for Congress.

The Laird Starrick Memorial Fund

This fund allows us to present awards to graduate students who are preparing for a career in public service. Mr. Starrick (BUP '67, MUP '72) had a very successful career in several State of Illinois agencies and was committed to public service.

The Louis B. Wetmore Endowment

This endowment exists through the gifts of Professor Wetmore's former students. The purpose of this endowment is to ensure that current students interact with planning practitioners and learn about planning practice. The endowment provides support for visiting practitioners, field trips, and student internships.

The Department also has copies of the book: Harland Bartholomew: His Contributions to American Urban Planning, written by Eldridge Lovelace, available for purchase. Funds from the sale of the book will be used to fund visits of planning practitioners.

Department of Urban and Regional Planning

College of Fine and Applied Arts

Alumni Activities

Alumni News

1956

Allen J. Dresdner, BS

We have become heavily involved in hazardous site remediation as part of the redevelopment process in the inner city. As a result, our staff has expanded to include environmental scientists to the point where traditional land use planning has become a very small part of our work. This suggests, I believe, a reevaluation of the planning curriculum to provide graduates with a technical background in the environmental sciences as substantive as that in economics and the social sciences.

Working in the Office of Local Assistance, Metropolitan Council of the Twin Cities. Wife, Barbara, died Nov. 1, 1994. Son #1, Peter, work is in the Mayor's Budget Office, City of Pittsburgh as a budget analyst. Son #2, Tim, married in 1994 to Amy, works for general contractor Elder-Jones who builds stores around the country in malls, etc. Hello to all my fellow grads. Still love planning and public service.

James B. Conner, MUP

I'm lucky to be healthy, to live in Little Rock, and to be married to Ybeltje. About eight years ago I left the engineering firm I had been with for 20 years as the director of planning services and later as marketing director. Since then I have managed family real estate and volunteered for various civic and religious organizations including the Catholic Prison Ministry in Arkansas. Our firm did a statewide planning study for the Arkansas Department of Corrections about 20 years ago -- Oh, the money (and productive lives) that would have been saved if our recommendations had been followed! Best regards to classmates and faculty.

1969

This past year has seen a continuation of our national land-use law and planning practice, with a growing emphasis on work in Colorado where we have more than a half dozen major municipal clients. Our offices in Los Angeles and Dallas have both required additional personnel to handle their expanding client bases.

I continue to focus my practice on the development of impact fees and concurrency management systems. I have written a major law review article on state impact fee enabling legislation which has been published in the Urban Lawyer. I am gratified that a road impact fee ordinance drafted for Leawood, Kansas has just been upheld by the Kansas Supreme Court.

On the home front, my older daughter, Stephanie, who is a sophomore at the George Washington University in Washington, DC, has just declared Physics as her major. She is currently interning at the Smithsonian Institution Air and Space Museum's Department of Astrophysics.

My younger daughter, Denise, is a senior at Blue Valley North High School and is awaiting word from the several colleges she has applied to. She intends to pursue a pre-med course of study. She is currently mentoring with a plastic surgeon and is having the unique experience of seeing patients at office visits as well as in surgery.

Ann continues to maintain a very active schedule and keeps our household in good working order despite battling cancer for the past two years.

Robert T. Goble, MUP

Jane and I are almost "Empty Nesters" now that our youngest daughter is a college junior. It's fun so far. Our latest therapy is a new house on a big lake just outside of Columbia. It is great to be in a rural lake environment only 30 minutes from our urban CBD office. Jane continues to have an interesting interior design practice now doing some out of state work but still able to work out of our house. I think I really live on an airplane. CGA, Inc. now has a 7 year project in Singapore and others in UK, S. Africa and Argentina in addition to our usual state and local projects throughout the United States. Paul Kelman, we finally did both our specialties for Gwinette county-new jail and now implementing paratransit and some public transit. Jails and busses go together after all.

Paul B. Kelman, MUP

1996 is finally here, and with it the centennial Olympic games. Some Atlantans can't wait and others are dreading July, 1996. The Olympics has already wrought dramatic changes to the city -- parks, streetscapes and improved neighborhoods. On the home front, my daughter Melissa is in grad school studying public policy at Georgia Tech. My son David is a freshman at MIT studying computer science. Donna and I will be in town for the games. Please call if you visit.

Gerald Robbins, MUP

I'm still working for Summerlin, managing the planning, engineering and landscape architecture for this 23,000-acre MPC. We were recently named the best selling master planned community in the country for the 3rd year in a row. Las Vegas is still booming and has a healthy economy. I formed a youth basketball league when I came to Las Vegas 3 1/2 years ago and it's now up to 40 teams. Running the league takes up most of my time outside of work. My daughter is now in 11th grade and my son is in 9th. Looking forward(?) to college soon. Hi to Mike Turner and Myles Pomeroy and the rest of my classmates, wherever you are.

1972

Deborah Lieber Brett, MUP

I'm still working as an independent consultant. Most of my work is in real estate market analysis, demographics, and economics. A new area of research in the last year was changes in the workplace, the labor force, and employment. I also worked on part of a forthcoming ULI book on transportation and land use, co-authored a chapter in ULI's recently revised college text on the real estate development process, and did some public speaking.

Daniel Lauber, MUP

A year ago I had the privilege of serving as principal author of APA's Amicus Curiae brief in support of Oxford House before the US Supreme Court in City of Edmonds vs. Washington State Building Code Council, 115 S. Ct. 1776 (1995). Not only did we succeed in upholding the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988, but, I'm proud to report, the nation's planners supported the right side. It was an example of the socially-oriented planning that Len Heumann, Mike Brooks, Lock Blair, and Bill Goodman were teaching at the U of I some 20 years ago come to life.

Thank you to the aforementioned professors and all the faculty for the great training you gave us, especially during those turbulent and exciting times of the early 1970's.

1973

Fredric C. Cooper, MUP

After ten years with The Enterprise Foundation, I have taken a position with the recently created Community Development Financial Institutions (CDFI) Fund. This is a very exciting prospect -- directing federal resources to locally managed lending and investment entities. Typically these investments will be targeted to affordable housing development and small business creation -- two vitally needed functions in neighborhood revitalization. The job is energizing enough to compensate for the now long commute (mass transit looks better every day).

Patricia M. Getzel, MUP

I continue my work in housing projects and programs for the city of Escondido. Barry and I will celebrate our 25th wedding anniversary in Paris and Florence this coming fall. Paul is attending Willamette University in Salem, Oregon. Jason will be attending the Berkler School of Music in Boston this coming September. Those of us attempting to provide affordable housing are finding these days very difficult.

Jim Grimes, MUP

Continuing my 18th year at CAVC as Ratio-TV-Telecom instructor and General Manager. I am also active on the Village Planning Commission and with Illinois Education Association/NEA as well as the National Guard as a public affairs officer. My wife, Jan (UI '73) now coordinates the Secretary of State's organ donor effort. My daughter Katie is a sophomore at the University of Iowa and my daughter Erin is a high school sophomore

William R. Neal, BAUP

Still plan, consult for Plymouth, but bulk of work is commercial/industrial real estate appraisal. "Hi" to the old gang from CCRPC!

1974

Mary Durward, BUP

I was appointed County Assessor in January 1996. Our county is located in northeastern Minnesota. We cover more than 6,700 square miles extending from Lake Superior to the Canadian border. We are home to the Boundary Waters Wilderness and Voyageurs National Park, as well as 200,000 people. I supervise 30 staff in 2 different courthouses and 20 local assessors. I have found my planning skills to be more valuable than ever! JD is still selling real estate in Duluth. Our sons are now 19, 18, and 14. We have an 'almost' empty nest, with only our youngest still at home. Give us a call if you're in the area. We're always willing to join a camping or hiking expedition-winter or summer. I enjoyed a visit to U of I last spring with my niece who will be in Engineering this fall. It was great to see familiar faces, even after 21 years!

Yvonne J. Singley, MUP

I'm recuperating from gall bladder surgery. Its tough getting old!

Paul A. Tessar, MUP

Life in Madison and work at the Wisconsin DNR continue to be interesting, challenging and rewarding. The second round of my academic endeavors is complete, resulting in a Masters of Environmental Monitoring from the UW Institute for Environmental Studies. Matt is in his third year at UW-Eau Claire, majoring in Computer Science and Geography. Amanda is in her second year at Grinnell College, leaning towards the sciences. Deb, Molly, and Denise are all doing well.

1975

Norman F. Kron, Jr. (Rick), BAUP

Work continues to be busy. I was named a director of the law firm of Grimshaw and Harring, P.C. last April, which is similar to a partner position. I'm still working with Colorado special districts, particularly with infrastructure financing. Lately, I've been working with the city of Black Hawk and the Black Hawk Casino Owners Association to organize a 'business improvement district' to finance downtown improvements in an extremely interesting gaming environment. Cindy continues her thunderstorm and severe weather research at the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder. Kay (9) and Kari (6) delight and occasionally amaze.

Anne Marie Moeller (Schaeffer), BAUP

I am currently busy full-time taking care of my family. I have three boys, ages 14, 12, and 9, and a little girl who is 4. All are busy and active in school, sports, and music. My husband, David, is a commercial real estate appraiser in Houston.

1976

Luis Alfredo Moreira-Pareja, MUP

After 20 years I have the opportunity to lead the development of a program for the provision of small loans for squatter settlements and the Espema Urbano for Quayaquil. Later I have dedicated myself to the area of architectural design and small scale construction. I work for a hotel and a bank. I teach architectural design at the Universidad Capolia De Quayaquil where I organized the Institute de Planificasion Urbana and conducted research with the University of Leuven (Belgium). I have three children and finally I am moving to my own house this May. I would like to know about my old pals: McDonoug, Lila Heifer, Kelly Kenyon, etc., etc. Finally my thanks to my teachers in Planning and Architecture and Education: Wetmore, Goodman, Blair, Eisserman, Guttenberg, etc. I will strive for my children to have the opportunity I had to complete my education in a great university as the University of Illinois.

1977

David B. Behr, BAUP

I am in my seventh year directing economic development in Walkerton. The community has grown by 170 acres, 900 people, two new industries and approximately 275 new jobs. We have also brought in over $800,000 in federal, state, and local grants to the community. Chris and I now have three girls. Our youngest, Gabrielle, turned one year old last December. Ashley is a 10-year-old 4th grader and Brittany is a 14-year-old 8th grader. All three add so much to our lives. Hard to imagine taking planning classes in a brand new building instead of a collection of houses on Nevada Street. Congrats to DURP, it's been long overdue.

Dan Carmody, BAUP

Coming up on eight years with private not-for-profit economic development organization in Rock Island. Rock Island hosted the State Historic Preservation Annual Meeting and it was a pleasure to see Lock Blair and Clyde Forrest once again. A comprehensive array of central city problems makes life interesting and exciting.

1978

Scott Michie, MUP

Consulting work with Bucher, Willis, and Ratliff Corporation continues to challenge me and our planning staff. We are pleased to have Jeff Beiswenger (MUP '95) join us as of last summer. Jeff's computer talents and urban design skills are helping us forge new products and services to cities and counties in Illinois, Missouri and Kansas. Our Seattle office provides planning services in the northwest. Clyde Prem (MUP '83) is consulting in transportation planning throughout the Midwest. Stop by our office if you visit Kansas City.

David Simon, MUP

I received a Master of Library Science degree in 1991 from SUNY Buffalo. I am now a Librarian in New Haven, CT.

1979

David A. Stern, MUP

My work has slowly moved from planning to technology. I've just completed a 5-year stint with the regional phone company here (under a 6-month contract). I helped them manage the conversion of paper and electronic records for a new geographic information system. The conversion operation alone was a $40 million endeavor.

Now I'm doing freelance computer and management consulting as I tackle yet another house renovation...it's my way of keeping a hand in planning/architecture. Initially, I added an attached garage for which I needed a zoning variance. I'm now attempting to redesign this Cape Cod to make it architecturally interesting...2-story spaces, open floor plan, sky lights, etc.

Nadine and I parted company some time ago, but I've maintained a good relationship with my daughter Stephanie, who's now 10. Keeping up with basketball and some outdoor activities...cycling, hiking, canoeing... for fun and to keep up with Steph.

Gina M. Trimarco, BAUP

I have been with HNTB for the past seven years and am still enjoying my job as a senior planner/project manager. The majority of my projects are in the transportation planning area. I am down to a 3-day work week and find my life a little calmer given the fact that we have a 1-year-old (Laurel) and a 3-year-old (Clint). Part time and flexible work schedules certainly make the work - family balance a lot easier. After spending the last fourteen years in the Lincoln Park neighborhood of Chicago we made the big move out to the suburbs. (Western Springs is already so planned that the only thing left to worry about is where to put more stop signs.)

1980

Robert L. Gleissner, MUP

After 5+ years with the City of Urbana, I moved on to become Senior Planner for the city of Highland Park in June, 1993. Since then I have written a greenways plan, re-written our zoning ordinance and started to revise our master plan. Although planning in a developed community is more challenging than I expected, I've found living in suburbia is less enjoyable so I hope to move on to a smaller community soon, preferably in Colorado or New Mexico. Outside the office, I've enjoyed traveling in the past year to New Mexico, Minnesota, Florida, Vermont, and Toronto. Most of these trips involved skiing which I am able to enjoy again after recovering from two car accidents in '93 and '94. I recently visited Lori Mitchell in Florida. For those classmates from 1979-81, you may remember Lori was married to Keith Mitchell who died in a 1986 climbing accident on Mt. Ranier. Lori and I enjoyed reminiscing about our time in C-U and would enjoy hearing from you.

E. James Peters, MUP

I have two children, ages nine and four, and my wife works for Burlington Northern RR. Third year as chief preservation planner with City of Chicago; staff to Commission on Chicago Landmarks. Publishing results of citywide architecture survey, which identified 18,000 significant structures (77 community areas), 12-year project. Finishing a conservation plan for the portion of Michigan Avenue facing Grant Park (30 historic buildings along "streetwall"). Active in national AICP (publications committee); local APA, Friends of Downtown; and far too many youth sports teams for sanity. And, still enjoying my daily 1/2 hour commute to work on the EL. Beats suburban car commuting hands down every day. Hello to URPL classmates (78-80).

1982

B. Michelle Hillal-Merz

Last June my husband, Chris, and I adopted our daughter, Rebecca, from Russia. She is from the Georgian Republic. I am still working for Gateway Trailnet, Inc. A non-profit organization and land trust which promotes trails, greenways and bicycle safe roads in the St. Louis metro area. We are currently working on a couple of Illinois projects - a parallel trail/greenway for the light rail extension in St. Clair County and a greenway/trail planning effort in Madison, Monroe, and St. Clair counties.

Terrence J. Hoffman, MUP

My position at Anheuser-Busch has expanded...more people, more responsibilities...and more challenges. Am still developing and implementing retailer/wholesaler technology initiatives, and higher degree sales applications with consumer demographics and lifestyle information databases. Pretty exciting stuff...we don't sell beer the way we used to! Linda and the girls, Kaylen (8) and Emme (5 1/2) are doing great. Life in St. Louis continues to be fun, diverse, and always something different. Stop by or call...we love visitors!

Julie Tintera Powers, MUP

I am presently working with the City of St. Peters, MO. Prior to this, I worked with a consultant - Woolpert - doing a variety of planning tasks. I have also been teaching a planning related class at St. Louis University each semester. My husband, Glenn, and I have a daughter, Leigh, who is almost 20 months old. Also, we spend a lot of time with Sean, my stepson of 13 years. Our lives will be enhanced this summer with another baby - it promises to be fun times. Regards to all - I hope to see the new building in 1996 - I've heard it is quite a place! Take care.

Helen Briassoulis, Ph.D.

In 1994 I was "assigned" the task to co-organize a new Department in the University of the Aegean at Mytilene, Island of Lesbos. The Department of Human Geography. I am currently the coordinator of studies and I was also elected Associate Professor in the summer of 1995. It is a very exciting and creative work and living place.

Family news: My elder daughter in the second year of the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, Technical University of Athens. My younger one prepared for the national exam (medicine). My husband is an Associate Professor at the Department of Agriculture Engineering, University of Athens.

My life involves a lot of commuting (weekly) between Athens (place of residence) and Mytilene (place of work). A lot of teaching (Quantitative Methodology in Geography), research, and enjoyment of my country's endangered natural environment! But, I miss the U of I and Urbana!

Claudell C. Bradby (Baker), MUP

Busy working as the mother of three daughters ages 2, 3, and 6 which leaves little time for anything else. Still very active in community activities. Serving as the president of the Harris County Water Control Improvement District #89. New endeavors include assisting the City of Houston in monitoring and auditing affordable housing projects with the new HOME federal grant.

Erynn Crowley (Brigham), MUP

The past year has been a busy one. In April we sold our house and bought a new one (well, new to us). It is located in a north central Phoenix neighborhood and still is within a short commute to work for me. In June I was promoted to a management assistant position in the Neighborhood Services Department. I report to the Deputy Director over the code enforcement section. It is called Neighborhood Preservation. We are responsible for enforcing the zoning ordinance, the neighborhood preservation ordinance (property maintenance) and a variety of related codes. The place is hectic, but I no longer have night meetings or weekend events for work. A welcome change. Mike is still doing estimates for Crowley Construction. We've both been busy with home improvement projects. In March we will be welcoming a golden retriever puppy to our home, so that will keep us busy too. Look us up if you get out this way.

Darwin E. Fields, MUP

I received a BS degree in Agricultural Engineering from UIUC in 1991. I worked for the US Army Corps of Engineers in Chicago as a Community Planner for one year. I then accepted a position with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in Marion. I had the opportunity to transfer to the Champaign office with the IEPA in April, 1994.

Over the years I have managed to lose contact with the Department but I am hoping to re-establish that relationship now that I am in the same community again. I'm looking forward to participating in some functions with alumni from the 1982-84 era.

Craig R. Milkint, MUP

With each move, we're into expansion projects..in more ways than one. In late May, 1995, Margaret and I moved back to the Chicago area after 2 1/2 years in Wolverine territory. Our 1941 'colonial' in Birmingham, Michigan was once residence to Sparky Anderson, Manager of the Detroit Tigers. Our new home in Hinsdale is a 2-story frame vernacular with a unique history we have only scratched. Originally built in the 1880's, the John Earl house was expanded around the turn of the century to add two parlors on the first floor and separate bedrooms on the second floor for Mr. and Mrs. Earl who had seven children. We're not sure if this was for purposes of birth control or an alternative to divorce. We do know that our bedroom was once the Scarlet Fever room as noted on the 1920's floor plan. During the Depression for economic reasons, the house and lot were split and the addition was moved to the front yard to become 207 N. Elm. What was once the house's side yard is now our front yard. History repeats itself as we started an expansion in July to create a first floor family room and expanded master bedroom above. Preservations would be pleased to note that the new construction matches existing cedar siding, roof line and divided 9-over-9 light windows. Our heating contractor couldn't understand why we chose to install cast iron radiators in the new addition instead of forced air heat. We just reclaimed the kitchen in January. All of the priming and painting is still waiting to happen since the Milkint family has since expanded with the addition of our first little Illini. Monica Grace arrived two weeks early on February 13, 1996 at 6 lbs 6 oz and 20 1/2 inches. She truly is a 'first' in that nothing we have ever done has been 'on time', let alone early. She already enjoys Illini fight songs. I just hope she is a creative child who likes painting, preferably with rollers. At work, I am a consultant with KPMG Peat Marwick specializing in property tax valuation and appeals. Margaret is an executive recruiter with Jacobson Associates where she specializes in actuarial search. We were able to visit campus in May for commencement exercises. Margaret's youngest brother Michael received his BAUP. Personally and professionally, we're thankful for our Illinois education and the faculty and staff who provided a supportive environment and challenging experiences.

Thomas M. Bartlett, MUP

I have been concentrating on planning for the reuse of two closing military bases - one Army and one Navy - over the past several years. It is a new and different kind of planning work, and I have been enjoying it immensely.

My wife Eileen and I have a happy and healthy 4-year-old son, Matthew. Those who knew me in graduate school may be interested to learn that I've hung up my bicycle, running shoes, and swim goggles - the three legs of my "triathlon" now are comprised of being a father, husband, and homeowner! I don't miss racing at all, even though I may have gained a pound or two.

One of these days I will make the pilgrimage to DURP to see the new "digs." In the meantime, hello to everybody in Urbana-Champaign.

Laura Marshall, MUP

I'm staying busy running my 'exclusive daycare center' - only my children allowed! At four-and-a-half and three they are always full of energy and questions. I'm keeping my hand in planning through our Homeowners Association. Just after I was elected President a year and a half ago, we had to deal with the citing of a 180-unit low income apartment complex just outside our subdivision - wish I'd taken more housing classes! It was interesting to be on the 'inside' of a citizens group trying to oppose both the City of Naperville and The State of Illinois (since the project was being funded through the State program). In the end a new citizen's group formed and sued everyone but ended up settling the case. Out of this, new state legislation has been introduced to change notification by the state, but I don't believe it has gotten anywhere. All in all, an interesting experience, particularly in seeing how planners and others in government deal with citizens and controversial planning issues.

1988

Sara "Sally" Van Meter Bridges, BA

A few years ago, I had a career change. In May, 1997 I will graduate from Louisville Presbyterian Seminary. I intend to practice pastoral counseling through the Presbyterian Church (USA).

Bill Cooney, MUP

My wife, Kim, and I recently had our second child and are adjusting accordingly. We have two sons, Bill - 18 months and Jack - 10 weeks, and currently live in Arlington Heights. I have been the Community Development Director in Mount Prospect for two years and have been diligently pursuing downtown revitalization and overall economic development programs. My primary responsibility is the overall administration of the Department that includes the Planning, Building, and Environmental Health divisions. Prior to this position, I worked for the Village of Arlington Heights, IL for five years. When I am not working or taking care of the kids, I enjoy golfing, basketball, and/or just about any other sports activity.

1988 & 1989

Annette & Joe Chinn, MUP

Joe was recently promoted to Vice President in his consulting company. He is very busy working on various real estate and development projects. He works for both local governments as well as developers, water, school and library service districts. Annette was promoted to being the City Services Manager in her firm's State Mandate Cost Division. She works with local agencies to assist them in identifying and claiming for costs mandated by the state. We are expecting our first baby this June!

1989

Koehler, Theresa R. (Hartlage), MUP

It seems like every time one of the Alunmi News booklets come out we've just moved. We're in Naperville now. I'm working for the Village of Lombard and Doug is still with Caterpillar. We are expecting our first baby in June.

Claire E. Miller, MUP

I am conducting market research for Wolfram Research, Inc., makers of Mathematica, a software program. I should finish my Ph.D. in Planning by this summer.

1990

Brian E. Elliff, MUP

After working for years with HUD in fair housing and the Community Development Block Grant Program, I am enjoying a return to my urban planning roots with the law firm of Barrett & Webber of Cincinnati, Ohio. We have both planners and lawyers on staff, and practice an interesting mix of land use, zoning, administrative and constitutional law.

My wife, Terri, and I are very pleased to be back in the Midwest, and with the many greater opportunities to follow the Fighting Illini!

1991

Nick Kalogeresis, MUP

After four years of living in Ottawa it was finally time to move on. I recently accepted a position with the Lieutenant Governor's office to run the Suburban Initiative of the Illinois Main Street program. Illinois is the latest state to adopt a state-wide Main Street program and results have been encouraging from the fledgling programs across the state. It will be interesting how it will translate in the suburbs.

On the personal front, I will be getting married in the autumn. Rose is a legal secretary and an Ottawa native. She is adjusting nicely to the big Chicago metro area but I at least miss the slower pace in the boonies. If ever at the State of Illinois Building please stop by and say hello.

Jacob B. "Jake" Rouch, MUP

After receiving my masters from Illinois in 1991, I returned to my hometown of Erie, Pennsylvania, and began my career as an Economic Development Planner for the Economic Development Corporation of Erie County. After nearly two years with EDCEC, I took the position of Executive Director for the DuBois County Chamber of Commerce and DuBois Area Economic Development Corporation, in Dubois, Pennsylvania. Dubois is a rural area with a 'metropolitan' population of approximately 20,000. Following a year and a half in Dubois, I was recruited back to Erie to take the position of Executive Director of the Erie Conference on Community Development. The Erie Conference is a membership organization comprised of 118 Chief Executive Officers representing more than 28,000 employees from Erie County. The Erie Conference gathers input on the community's changing need, assesses ideas and opinions, obtains broad agreement, and facilitates the appropriate action. The Conference is an application of CEO leadership influencing and managing economic and environmental change for community betterment. Among the projects the Conference has undertaken are: the formation of a roundtable of the county's economic development agencies, county-wide 911, creation of a metropolitan water authority, the formation of an integrated indigent health care delivery system, highway/road construction and enhancements, fundraising for public and private capital projects, and a roundtable of public authorities. Among the issues under development are: metropolitan government, county-wide reassessment, community funding of regional assets, and statewide tax reform for third class counties.

I have not taken the traditional planning path. I am still trying to figure out how I got where I am, but I do enjoy the diversity of my job. I have lost a great portion of my hair (but I still have more than Lew Hopkins and Mike Emerson). I pray nightly for Illinois to beat Penn State in every possible competition. I miss LaBamba burritos and haystacks dearly. I am still trying to figure out why the comprehensive rational model for planning is taught (because the public sector is neither comprehensive or rational). All the best to the MUP class of '91 -- never forget the national APA conferences in Denver and New Orleans. They were very productive for our professional careers (yeah..sure they were.. and the brewery in Denver and Pat O'Brien's were good for our livers!).

George Sakas, MUP

My firm has a contract with the Norfolk Army Corps of Engineers District to supply environmental assessment services to the Department of the Army. I am trying to get back to school to complete an MBA. In October of 1994, I married Maria Voucamos, a UI alumni and a former 'UP101' student. I have been actively seeking employment in planning, but it is very difficult.

Cynthia Weglarz Roundtree, BAUP

I received my law degree from the University of Oregon in May of 1995. I married in August of 1995. My husband's name is Michael R. Roundtree, also a graduate of the University of Illinois. We will be moving in the fall of 1996. I will be seeking a job with environmental organizations and government. Right now we are looking at Madison, Wisconsin and Baltimore, Maryland. Also considering Boston.

1992

Jinat Ali, BAUP

I left WAND News (Decatur, IL) in April 1996. I received an offer with NBC in Memphis, Tennessee. WMC is the dominant #1 in that market.

I received my masters in journalism from Northwestern University, Evanston, IL in 1994. My undergraduate work in Urban Planning was excellent preparation for covering daily news. I understand how municipalities work and can analyze civic issues better than most reporters. Urban planning and public policy is a solid background and a liberal education.

Ellen Brin, MUP

I just finished my 4th year in Woodstock. We'll top one million square feet of new commercial/industrial space this year with no sign of let-up. Currently we are completing a sub-area plan and TIF district for the downtown with a ten acre redevelopment site adjacent to our METRA station. Woodstock also completed an in-depth corridor study of transportation on Route 47 - the first such study on a state SRA.

Scott Buening, MUP

I recently changed jobs - I now work at the Village of Lemont as the Village Planner. Lemont is a small but growing town located south of I-55 and just east of Bolingbrook. I still live in Palatine where I formerly worked, but I anticipate moving closer to Lemont some time in the future.

Tim Kabat, MUP

Since graduation I have married. My wife Christy and I have a 1-year-old daughter named Emma. We have bought an old house and are remodeling it. I have been with the Planning and Zoning Administration since May 1995. I have a staff of 6 (including myself) and will be hiring an entry-level planner to complete a county-wide comprehensive plan. Also, may have an opening for a summer internship starting in June 1996.

Melisa M. Mclean, MUP; Brian E. Kolde, MUP (91)

Well, 1996 is an exciting time for Brian and I. We finally are in the same place at the same time and are very happy to be in St. Louis. I began working for St. Louis County in January '96 as a planner while Brian has been working for the city of St. Louis since December '95 as a neighborhood stabilization officer. There is much to see and do in St. Louis - so let us know when you are planning to visit.

Ray Pruchnicki, MUP

Have been with the Department of Planning and Development since October, 1994 and married in July 1995. Enrolled in DePaul University College of Law in the evening JD program and am scheduled to graduate in May of 1999.

Hello planners! After working at the City of Champaign as a Planner Intern, I was fortunate enough to receive a Dunn Fellowship. This has allowed me to get a first hand experience at working inside the Governor's Office. And, what an experience that has been. Since then, I have been appointed on the Governor's staff as an administrative assistant in Boards and Commissions. It has been quite interesting dealing with the veritable plethora of state problems (or should I say, problems facing the state). While being a Dunn, I was able to work in the Governor's Legislative Office, Illinois Department of Transportation, and I even became the Governor's Single Point of Contact. (A planning side note: while working at IDOT I was able to work with another U of I alumni who is the Deputy Director of Planning and Programming; He got me involved with the Statewide Transportation Implementation Plan). I would like to recommend a Dunn fellowship to any seniors who are interested in State politics. If anyone wants more information on becoming a Dunn, write to me at the Governor's office and I will have the paperwork sent out to you as soon as possible! (I can tell I have worked for the Governor's office for too long... everything has to be done ASAP).

James R. Herbick, BAUP

I am currently working on my MBA with a concentration in management information systems at DePaul University. In addition, I work full-time for a small manufacturing company.

1995

Robert Chelseth, BAUP

Patricia and I moved to Paris (Neuilly) in March 1995. It has long been a goal of mine to live in Europe, and as Patricia is Austrian, she is returning closer to home. After several months effort, we successfully negotiated residency and work privileges, and established that it is no mere coincidence that bureaucracy is a French word. Tutoring is slowly building my French skills, and I am making steady progress on expanding my business here. Best wishes to all.

John M. Eason, BAUP

I am doing congregation centered organizing on the south side of Chicago. This summer I helped organize a successful boycott of Elite grocers in the South Commons housing development. The grocer was known for harassing customers, over charging, and selling outdated products (i.e. rotten meats and vegetables, spoiled eggs and milk). I also aided Avalon Park UCC in closing a neighborhood drug house and clearing up gang activity on a local school playground.

David Galbraith, MUP

Since obtaining my Master's Degree from the Department in May 1995, I have been working as a Current Planner for the Village of Schaumburg. Schaumburg is probably best known as the home of Woodfield Mall, the nation's largest fully-enclosed climatically controlled shopping center. Due to this attraction, the majority of cases I have been handling are commercial developments, although Schaumburg has a large amount of industrial and residential developments. I have found the work to be extremely rewarding, challenging, and enjoyable. Recently I was involved in the review and site development approval process for the new 415,000 sq. ft. IKEA retail store. IKEA is a Swedish home furnishing company that is relatively new to the United States market but has a few stores on the east coast. The Schaumburg store will be their company's United States flagship and is due to open in fall 1997. I continue to learn a great deal from my various projects and have enjoyed working with a planning department of 21 individuals including two DURP alums. Tom Koenig, Director of Planning ('76) and Leanne Redden, Transportation Planner ('91).

My wife Christine (Davik-Galbraith), who received her Bachelor's Degree in Journalism ('92) and Juris Doctorate ('95) from the U of I, passed the Illinois State Bar exam this summer. She is currently employed as an Attorney with Vedder, Price, Kaufman, and Kammholz where she has been practicing patent and trademark law. She recently had an article discussing grandparent visitation rights published in the U of I Elder Law Journal and has been working on a pro-bono case on the same subject.

Christine and I have been extremely busy as we are having a house built in Naperville. On the weekend following Thanksgiving, I was reunited with all the members of the Cairo Planning Assistance Team (Kevin Nelson, Rob Kowalski, and Jeff Beiswenger), Rob's wife Jennifer, and Jennifer Estrella. All were doing well and enjoying their new jobs.

Kyung Soo Kim, MUP

I have been working for SamSung Engineering and Construction Group for the last six months. In the near future, I will be involved in some big development projects in the USA. I am very much enjoying my job in Seoul Korea. If anyone has a chance to visit here in Korea, I will be happy to help them.

Paige A. Snider, MUP

I am still consulting in international development and finishing an environmental contract in NIS. Also, starting a proposal for an agricultural project in Egypt. I am engaged to be married on November 23, 1996.

In Remembrance

Grace E. Byrne, AICP, BAUP 1972

Grace E. Byrne, a leading transportation planner in the Puget Sound region, died February 1st, 1996 after an 18-month battle with breast cancer. She was 45. Grace graduated with a BUP from the University of Illinois in 1972. She went on for a Masters of Transportation Planning and Engineering from the University of Tennessee. She was the Director of Transportation and a Vice President with the planning and engineering firm of Berryman & Henigar in Seattle.

As project manager for the Puget Sound VUSION 2020 project, Grace played a pivotal role in the development of regional transportation and established herself as a leader in growth management planning in the state of Washington. Grace was also instrumental in development of the Regional Transportation Plan for the Olympic & Kitspat Peninsulas, and developed numerous other transportation plans in area communities. Her strong commitment to improving the quality of life in the region made her a tireless leader in striving to develop the best in local planning.

It is clear from letters from her brother and other planners at Berryman & Henigar that Grace touched the lives of many people, both inside the profession and in her Seattle community - she will be sorely missed. She was a proud Illinois alumni who represented the department and the profession admirably by her career as a highly successful and well-respected planner. Her classmates may remember her as her colleagues of recent years do, as a person who always had a joy for living that was made clear by her infectious laugh.
